Around 4pm, Tom was on a work call in the hallway, by the front door. I was on FaceTime with Jennifer in the living room and was responsible for Anna.

Anna said she had to pee and walked to the hallway bathroom. Soon Tom started to say "yiwei" repeatedly. I couldn't respond right away, being in the middle of a conversation with Jennifer and the doctor Leo was seeing. Within seconds, Tom was screaming "YIWEI!" over and over again. I walked over saw Anna in the hallway, Tom told me she had been hitting him over the head, Anna had her pants partially down, and said "Dad is yelling too loud", and started to cry. Simultaneously, Tom said I need you to pay attention to me. I went to give Anna a hug and reassured her she was OK.

I started to play with Anna in her room. Soon she peed in her pants.
